

GOOD for you.

My brother, Austin, was a cape-wearing, mischievous, loving, caring little “Super Hero” brother. He was the kind of brother every brother should be, always there to give me a little extra push when I needed it. Because of his love for Superman, he even signed his name with a big Superman “S” at the end. We called him Super Skippy. When he died, at the age of 14 of a heart condition, we were asked about organ, eye and tissue donation. As a family, we had all talked about donation being such a positive thing, so there was no question in our minds. We wanted Austin to be a donor and he would have liked that. I love you Super Skippy. I can only hope the people that you helped and saved can feel your “Super Hero” in them.

Organ, eye and tissue donation saves lives. Please make your decision to donate life, and then tell your family!

The Global Organization for Organ Donation, GOOD, is a not-for-profit organization dedicated to raising public awareness for organ, eye and tissue donation.
